OTHER SECTIONS ARE DISCUSSED

Some Are Amended And Others Approved.

Every Section of Proposed Charter of City Has Been Approved Excepting Seven—However, Some of the Sections Approved May Be Taken Up Again—Enthusiastic Meeting of Citizens Last Night—Meet Again Tuesday Night.

At the adjourned mass meeting in the court house last night several sections of the proposed charter, to which objections were raised at the former meeting were taken up and discussed. Those who had made objections to the sections had secured copies of the sections objected to and after thorough study of the sections the objections were withdrawn. Other sections were discussed freely and some amended, while others were approved as prepared by the committee. There are yet seven of the more important sections to be passed upon and these will be taken up at the next meeting which will be held on next Tuesday night.

A large number participated in the discussion last night and a number of valuable suggestions were brought out as a result. Those entering into the discussions did not seek to destroy the vital points in the proposed commission plan, but only to strengthen the charter provisions and make them more effective and satisfactory. In fact it appeared more like a heart to heart talk between members of a large corporation as to the best way of fixing the duties and powers of the officials of that corporation than a mass meeting of citizens and this was what it was intended for. The idea is to put the city administration on a business basis just as would be done were the city a private corporation and all citizens stockholders.

The sections yet open for discussion, particularly, are 6, 8, 23, 47, 57, 67 and 69. These sections fix the number of commissioners and the duties of each, whether the commissioners shall have power to fix maximum rates charged by public service corporations and the substitute therefor, the recall section, the section pertaining to power for condemning land for streets and public use, and the section pertaining to education.

The following sections were taken up last night:

Section 105—The addition of a phrase clarifying a possible legal complication with other laws. Carried.

Section 96—Amendment to empower commissioners to charge sewer rents if they deem it necessary. Amendment defeated.

Sections, 93, 94, 95—Pertaining to cemeteries an amendment as section 95 1-2 being added providing that the perpetual care fund and all gifts and special requests shall be kept in separate fund and for the especial purpose of caring for cemeteries and the plots of owners making such provision, Also creating cemetery trustees, Carried.

Section 86—Amendment offered by Mr. Stern giving city power to own all public ultilities if it so desires. This was not pressed as city has power to do so anyway.

Section 84—Judge Douglas offered an amendment requiring that property owners shall pave sidewalks in front of their property and pay cost of paving, macadamizing, repairing or improving one-fourth of street abuting their property. Carried. The original section provided that property owners should in addition to the above lay curbing and gutter in street adjoining their property. Mr. V. C. McAdoo objected to property owners having to pay for street work and he may offer an amendment later.

Section 73—Gives commissioners power to graduate businesses of city for license taxation, Mr. R. C. Bernau objecting to this. After the section was explained more fully Mr. Bernau withdrew objection.

Section 74—Provides that city can lexy tax not to exceed 1-4 of amount levied by state on certain things on which state has exclusive right to tax at present. Mr. Ireland had objected at the former meeting, but the section was allowed to stand.

Sections 10 and 59—Pertaining to control of police. Judge Douglas objected to the commissioner having the department in charge. He thought the Chief of Police should have entire control of his men and that he should be answerable only to the board of commissioners. He said it would mix matters up if the chief was to instruct his men to do one way and the commissioner should say do something else. He also recommended that the police be elected for terms of four years, one fourth of the force to be elected each year. This would insure several experienced men on the force at all times. The amendment was voted down.

Section 21.—This gives superintendent of schools power to discharge a teacher. Mr. R. R. King thought the teacher should only be suspended and the superintendent compelled to file charges with the board at once, giving the teacher a copy so she could answer the charges. After some discussion the matter was returned to the committee with instructions to consult with the educational committee of the Chamber of Commerce and draw up another section in lieu of the present one. Section 18 went over also as it dealt with the same matter.

Section 16—This pertained to the health of the city and Alderman Albright offered an amendment which would tend to give the commissioners additional power in looking after the health of the city. The amendment was adopted.

Section 9—Left open at request of Mr. J. N. Wilson. This provides that public service corporations shall make reports when called for and shall allow the city to inspect all books inspected by the corportion commission.

Section 22.—Mr. A. M. Scales offered an amendment striking out the provision that the library shall be under the supervision of the commissioners and leaves the institution in the hands of trustees as at present, the trusted to be elected by the commissioners. Adopted.

STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Annual Meeting Will Be Held in Asheville First Monday in October.

The North Carolina State Federation of Labor will hold its annual meeting in Asheville this year, and all local unions in the state are urged to send at least one delegate.

This meeting will be one of the most important the Federation has had in years, and it is hoped a large delegation will be on hand at this meeting in the mountain metropolis in the "Land of the Sky."

Asheville had the State Federation as its guests several years ago, and those who attended know of the brand of hospitality handed out by the hosts of organized labor in that city.

All members of local unions affiliated with the State Federation, which includes practically all of them, should not forget the date—Monday, October 3, and be there in full force.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT.

Several Vagrancy Cases Disposed of Before His Honor Yesterday.

There were several cases in Municipal court yesterday morning, the officers having invaded Warnersville a few hours previous and rounded up several vagrants who had recently completed sentences at the workhouse. The defendants were given until Monday to leave town, after which they will be liable to a term of 30 days in the workhouse. They were Grace Hege, Eva Hall, Mary Serce and Rosie Jones. Two other defendants were found not guilty on the vagrancy charge. Frank Boyd was given 30 days on the roads for retailing. Joe Andrews was bound over to court on the charge of larceny. A case against Burt Johnson, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon, was continued until this morning.

Building Permits.

Two building permits were issued yesterday. Dr. J. H. Wheeler was granted a permit to erect an eight room residence on North Cedar street. The estimated cost is $4,000. Miss Callie Rankin was granted a permit to add a room, costing $400, to a residence on Green street.

Urgent request from the Nash county authorities for an immediate trial of Norman Lewis, colored, for mortally wounding Chief of Police Stallings, of Spring Hope, is refused by Gov. Kitchin because there is no Superior court judge available at this time to preside at the trial. The governor finds that it will be necessary for the case to go over to the regular November term of Nash court. The prisoner in his cell here remains ignorant of the death of Chief Stallings, Sheriff Sears preferring to keep the news of the death from him so that there may not be additional reason for him to attempt escape or other desperate action.

John H. Royall, of Wake Forest, has been appointed secretary and J. B. Cheshire, Jr., Raleigh, treasurer for the Wake County Democratic executive committee, for the impending campaign which promises to be especially aggressive and, possibly bitter. This will be particularly the case if there is an independent Democratic ticket to come into the field as it is persistently reported that there will be. It is understood that the definite announcement of an independent Democratic movement will be forthcoming within the next week. It is a notable fact that Treasurer Cheshire, of the Democratic executive committee, is the son of Rt. Rev. James Blount Cheshire, D. D., bishop of the diocese of North Carolina.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT

A telegram received yesterday by Mrs. S. C. Dodson brought news of the death of Peter H. Adams. Mr. Adams died suddenly yesterday morning at his home in Erie, Pa. The body will be brought here Saturday morning for interment at Green Hill cemetery.

Mr. Adams was a native of this place, but moved away from here about 25 years ago. His first wife was a sister of the late Judge John A. Gilmer. His second wife, who survives him, was a Miss Griswold, of Goldsboro.

THREE COMMISSIONERS ENOUGH, SAYS MR. MURPHY

Or If There Must Be Four, He Believes They Should Be Paid Less Than $2,400 a Year.

Editor Telegram:

As the matter of changing our plan of city government is now up for discussion, I beg space in your columns to make a few suggestions along this line. It seems to me that if we can save the annual salary of one of the proposed commissioners amounting to the proposed sum of $2,400, and at the same time promote the effectiveness and efficiency of our system of government, we should certainly do so.

I suggest that we have a mayor and two commissioners instead of four commissioners, one of whom is to act as mayor, the arrangement and distribution of duties to be about as follows:

Mayor: To be chairman of the board of commissioners, and to have charge of the police department, health department, fire department, and of a department of building, plumbing and light inspection (the latter to include the inspection and reporting on street lights and the inspection and testing of private gas and electric meters).

A commissioner of revenue and accounts, who shall act as treasurer and tax collector (collecting all taxes, licenses, water rents, market rents, city hall rents, street and sidewalk assessments, for cemetery plots sold, and have charge of the perpetual care fund of the cemeteries and all other sources of revenue that the city may have). He shall also act as paymaster and purchasing agent for the city.

A commissioner of public works, who shall have charge of the water system (physically), of the streets, sewers, parks, and cemeteries (physically).

The board of commissioners to have charge, control or supervision of the public schools and public libraries.

Of course the detail work and machinery is to be added to the above, but I believe the above number and designation of the mayor and commissioners and the scope of work assigned to each would give our people a quickly effective and thoroughly efficient form of government. And certainly, unless the number of the proposed commissioners is reduced, the proposed salaries should be reduced, as we must have an eye to economy in the beginning if the new government as well as in its future operation, for its success or failure is going to depend largely upon the amount of money we will have to expend upon public improvements and not so much on what we expend on salaries.

Respectfully,

T. J. MURPHY.

THE SKETCHES ACCEPTED.

School Board Decides on Those Submitted by Hook & Rogers, of Charlotte.

The City Board of Education met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and the sketches of the plans for the central school building as submitted by Hook & Rogers, of Charlotte, were accepted and the board will recommend to the aldermen that the contract for the plans be made. The plans will call for a 12 room building costing $25,000 without heating and lighting attachments.

The aldermen will likely award the contract tonight and it is hoped to begin work on the building as soon as possible. The building will be located on the lot on South Spring street, adjoining the home of Mr. A. L. Brooks.

Improvements At a Barber Shop.

Garrett's barber shop was the scene of much activity last night as a revolution in its appearance was being wrought over night so as to prevent any interference with business today. While there are several noticeable improvements, the most important is the installation of new chairs, whose white carrara glass arms and bases make them very conspicuous. Mr. Garrett states that these chairs are the most sanitary and modern ever installed in a barber shop in North Carolina.

JURY EMPANELED IN VESTAL CASE

Took Just an Hour to Select Jurors.

About Fifty of Special Venire Exhausted Before Twelve Were Secured—Two Secured Out of Regular Panel—Two Witnesses on Stand Yesterday Afternoon—Case Will Consume All of Today—Pegram Not Guilty of Arson.

In Guilford Superior court yesterday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock the selection of a jury to pass upon the guilt or innocence of Dr. W. L. Vestal and wife, Fannie Vestal, was begun and just one hour hour later the twelfth juror had taken the oath and seated himself in the box. Two jurors were secured from the regular panel and about fifty of the special venire had been called before the following twelve men had been chosen: W. A. Foster, W. M. Brookbank, J. G. Cook, W. H. Warren, W. L. Morton, S. L. Lewis, J. H. Newman, W. M. Moore, M. E. Taylor, W. L. Wray, W. S. Wagoner, J. F. Farrington.

The case had been set for 11 o'clock, but the argument in the case against R. W. Pegram, the Stokesdale man charged with burning his store, had not been concluded and the time was changed until two-thirty in the afternoon. Every seat in the court room was occupied and hundreds were standing around the walls when court convened for the afternoon session. However, there were two or three small cases that the solicitor wanted to dispose of while the jury was at dinner and in which the defendants had submitted. So it was three o'clock when the clerk began calling the names of those who had been summoned for jury service. This took up about twenty minutes.

Dr. and Mrs. Vestal were in court and took considerable interest in the ... of the court prior to the calling of their case. While the jury was being selected they keenly scanned the face of each person called and especially those who were accepted for service by their counsel. Dr. Vestal was as calm and unconcerned as if he was attending a dramatic presentation. Mrs. Vestal at times showed the slightest nervousness. She was dressed in solid black and wore a black hat of the turban variety over which was thrown a dark veil which completely covered her face. She wore gold rimmed spectacles. Her features were much more refined than were her husband's, who would hardly be taken for a physician.

Only two witnesses were put on the stand yesterday afternoon and no evidence of a startling nature was brought out. W. A. Thomasson, of Statesville, father of the dead girl, Bessie Thomasson, was the first witness and he testified to the fact that his daughter was well when she left home. When he next saw her she was in the undertaker's shop in High Point, after her death. Mrs. Susan Dore, a nurse of High Point, was the next witness and she testified to being called to the home of Dr. Vestal to wait on the deceased two days prior to her death. She explained the condition of the girl at the time she arrived and the treatment given her. The cross-examination brought out nothing new.

At 5 o'clock court adjourned until 9:30 this morning. There are six or eight witnesses for the prosecution to be examined and several for the defendants. The case will hardly be concluded before tomorrow morning.

There is an able array of counsel on either side and every point will be hard fought. Messrs. Roberson & Barnhart, of High Point; John T. Benbow, of Winston; R. C. Strudwick and W. P. Bynum, of this city, appear for the defendants. Solicitor Gattis is assisted in the prosecution by County Attorney J. N. Wilson and L. C. Caldwell, Esq., of Statesville, the latter being retained by relatives of the dead girl.

The case of R. W. Pegram, who was charged with arson, which was taken up Wednesday afternoon was concluded and went to the jury just before the

Mme. Hankel, of Dresden, was one of the speakers at the Esperanto Congress recently held in Washington. Speaking of the progress of women in Germany, Mrs. Hankel said: "When I was young a girl's education usually stopped when she was 14. Now girls not only are allowed to attend schools much longer, but they are allowed to go higher. The number of girls attending these higher schools increases every year. Not very long ago women were not allowed to labor except in a few departments. Now women's labor is accepted in every department, and they work along with men."

WOMAN PLAYWRIGHT

She is Mrs. Bertha Sheafer, Who Has Dramatized "Silas Marner."

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not until recently has the Cleveland public come to know that in its midst is a woman dramatist who is fast attracting the attention of metropolitan theatrical managers. But for some time discerning members of the profesion have recognized in Mrs. Bertha Sheafer, of this city, a playwright of talent.

"Silas Marner," dramatized by Mrs. Sheafer after George Eliot's novel, was recently given at the Euclid Garden Thetatre for the first time on any stage.

"How did I come to enter the playwright's field?" remarked Mrs. Sheafer, with a businesslike air. "To tell you the truth, I just bumped into it. A theatrical manager asked me if I could recommend someone to translate a German piece, "The Merry Widow Remarried."

"I thought the matter over and decided that I could do it myself. Being a native German, I'm quite at home there. So without further parley I told the manager that I'd make a try myself, and I did. In 10 days I had the whole play translated into English, besides writing the lyrics and the book. Ever since then I haven't been bothered with persons who want a writer recommended."

THE FATNESS OF HEALTH.

Samose Fills Out the Curves and Makes Thin People Fat.

Perfect health and good, solid beautiful flesh can only come through the use of Samose, the remarkable flesh-forming food.

This makes the thin and scrawny, plump and robust; it mixes with the food so that all the elements that make solid bone firm muscle and good flesh are thoroughly assimilated and retained in the system.

Samose is not a drug or a stimulant; it is a scientific flesh-forming food that restores thin people to a normal condition of good healthy flesh.

These statements are confirmed by Howard Gardner's offer to refund the money to anyone buying and using Samose who does not gain in weight as promised.

A NOBLE RECORD

Of many hundreds of thousands of cures forms a well sustained basis for every claim put forth by the makers of DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY as a remedy for many of the troublesome affections which afflict mankind; yet it is not extolled as a "cure-all" by any means. No extravagant promises are flaunted before the public to arouse false hopes in the afflicted. Your neighbors probably know of some of its many cures; ask them.

Through strengthening and arousing the stomach, liver and bowels into vigorous action, digestion is promoted, whereby the blood is enriched and purified, disease-producing bacteria destroyed and expelled from the body, and thus a long list of skin, scrofulous and kindred affections are overcome and sound, vigorous health established.

The "Discovery" contains no alcohol and no habit-forming drugs, and has its every ingredient printed on its wrappers. This OPEN PUBLICITY places it in a class distinct from the ordinary secret nostrums with which it has no relationship. Physicians, therefore, do not hesitate to prescribe it in bad cases of indigestion, torpid liver or biliousness and in skin and blood affections. People of intelligence and keen discernment employ it. The "Discovery" is a pure glyceric extract of native medicinal roots of great curative potency, and can in no case do harm to either child or adult. The aged find it a great invigorator.

You can learn more about this time proven and popular "Discovery" from the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, a newly revised, up-to-date edition of which is now offered, in cloth covers, post-paid, for 31 cents in one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only; or in paper covers 21 cents. SALT SEA YARNS.

Signs and Omens to Which the Sailor Grimly Clings.

A JOKE THAT PROVED FATAL.

Superstition and a Guilty Conscience Proved Too Much For the Norseman—A Bucket of Water That Stopped a Mysterious Wailing.

It is a well known fact that in the past the sailor was among the most superstitious of mortals, and even in these enlightened days there are a goodly number of old salts who cling tenaciously to their belief in certain signs and portents. Some, no doubt, of these superstitions have vanished altogether into the limbo of forgotten things, but there will always be a credulous few who will shake their heads solemnly and prophesy dismally if a knife is stuck in the mast or an albatross or a stormy petrel is captured and brought on board. The origin of some of these superstitions cannot be traced. Many of them have been handed down from father to son for a great number of years, with a touch probably added here and there, turning a comparatively ordinary story into a weird and mysterious legend.

The Finn is the most superstitious of all sailors. There are many of this race who still believe in the ominous portent of the phantom ship, the folly of starting a voyage on a Friday (a notion by no means confined to seafaring men), the low burning blue lights which are ghost spirits hovering near to give warning of approaching disaster and many other things, all of which

Fill the sailor's mind with murmurings
And speak to him of wrecks.

A story is told of a brigantine which numbered several extremely superstitious men among her crew. One night when there was no moon and a slight ground swell was running the watch, who happened to be the most superstitious of them all, heard an unearthly wailing coming apparently from the very surface of the sea. The mate and the helmsman also heard it, but the former lacked imagination, and, although he was certainly interested, he nearly blew the watch's head off when he ventured to suggest mermaids. The helmsman did not feel quite happy, but he had to stick to the wheel. The watch was pale with terror, but he kept silence owing to the mate's complimentary references to his courage and abilities. Slowly the sound began to move along the ship's side, becoming more and more agonized as it approached. This annoyed the mate, and, going to the side of the vessel, he waited until he had located the sound and then emptied a bucket of water over the rail. There was a gasp, then dead silence, and nothing more was heard that night.

When the watch went off duty he of course gave a detailed and lurid account of the incident to his shipmates, who listened, as he thought, in awed silence and then called on one of the audience for his version of the matter. This man, a Tyne-sider, who dearly loved a joke and had no respect at all for hoary superstitions, had conspired with his fellows to play a trick on the watch. On the night in question he had crept over the bows without a sound, carrying with him the ship's cat secured in a bag. Crouching under the stays, the joker let the cat's head out of the bag, which he tied round the animal's neck so that it could not escape. He then applied his teeth to the unfortunate animal's tail. Everybody knows the fearsome sounds an angry cat is capable of producing, and those to which a cat whose tail is being bitten gives vent are among the most hair raising. The sound was more or less regulated by squeezing the luckless beast's body. The mate's bucket of water was as unwelcome as unexpected and caused the Tyne-sider to beat a hurried retreat.

Not only is the origin of many sea superstitions "wropt in mystery," but also any logical explanation of cause and effect. It would puzzle any one to say why it should be unlucky for the ship's boy to whistle on the weather bow, except that it is generally unpleasant from a music lover's point of view for a boy to whistle on any bow at all.

On one occasion superstition and a guilty conscience caused a practical joke to have fatal consequences. The incident arose through one of the sailors, a Norwegian, boxing the ears of the ship's boy for the aforementioned crime of whistling on the weather bow. Not unnaturally the boy was annoyed and determined to pay the Norwegian out. Aided by two other sailors, a white shirt and some string, a very presentable "ghost" was arranged in the foc'sle on the night the Norseman was on watch. He was to be allowed only a glimpse of the "spirit" on entering the foc'sle, and it was then to vanish from view, being jerked by means of a string underneath the bunk of one of the jokers. Everything was ready, and the three conspirators lay in their bunks awaiting their victim. Unfortunately they all fell asleep, to be suddenly awakened by a loud cry from the Norwegian. He stood gazing at the "ghost," the dim light shed by the lamp falling on his ghastly face. The three were about to call out to him when he spoke. "No, no," he cried, "I did not mean to kill you, Morgan! Oh, mercy, mercy!" And he rushed madly from the foc'sle. Terrified, his shipmates followed him, but as they reached the deck they saw the Norwegian throw himself into the sea.—London Globe.

An exchange says that Taft becomes daily more shy about carrying out the Roosevelt policies. To quote the brilliant Senator Gore, he has already carried them out—on a stretcher.

The Baltimore Sun has an editorial headed "Three Great Democratic Leaders." One has to be only half way posted on current events to understand that the Sun is talking about William J. Gaynor, Judson Harmon and Woodrow Wilson.

Tom Watson is urging the Democrats of Georgia not to vote for Hoke Smith for Governor on the ground that the primary was not conducted as it should have been. It is plain enough that the reason Tom went back into the Democratic party was that he thought he could do it more harm from the inside than from the outside.

The Columbia State observes that when Woodrow Wilson was a little boy in Columbia he daily attended Sunday school. Dr. Wilson has strong moral perceptions and we have no doubt his early training is partly responsible for the fact. We believe his father was a prominent Presbyterian divine well known through the South.

That traveling man who told The Telegram reporter that this is the greatest year ever for corn, wheat and fruit is doing a useful service in helping circulate good news. Business depression is often as much a mental disorder as it is an actual fact. If you have got a dollar and owe it, pay the bill and put the dollar in circulation. It will help business immensely.

An article elsewhere on this page announces and explains "Monument Day." Readers of The Telegram will bear us out when we say that we have always maintained that women are better, more self-sacrificing, more admirable in almost any particular that can be mentioned than men; and the Confederate women measured up to the very highest standard of womanhood. It ought not to be a difficult matter to raise a handsome sum for the proposed monument.

Col. Roosevelt says: "The American public does not wish to see the tariff so arranged as to benefit primarily a few wealthy men." But "a few wealthy men" wish it so arranged; and they have always had their way in Republican polities, being decidedly "practical men" and liberal campaign contributors. —Columbia State.

You can't judge the Republican party by what Mr. Roosevelt says. He is not consistent with himself and naturally it would be expecting vastly too much to expect him to make the Republican party consistent with himself.

Speaking of Woodrow Wilson, the Baltimore Sun says:

Conditions must be regarded as hopeful when the party can enlist the energies of so conservative and thoughtful a citizen as Dr. Woodrow Wilson. He feels that not even his work as president of Princeton university can justify him in refusing to respond to the call of the people. He believes that the governorship of New Jersey offers such an opportunity for public service that he can not decline to accept it.

The clientele of Princeton is partly Republican and partly Democratic, possibly more Republican than Democratic. Dr. Wilson therefore must have felt very strongly the justice of Democratic policies and the injustice of Republican policies to have been as he has been all along a conspicuously pronounced Democrat. And there is still greater significance in the circumstance of his having accepted a nomination on the Democratic ticket. He must believe very strongly in the Democratic party and in its usefulness to the country or he would not abandon his great work as chief executive of one of the greatest educational institutions of the land to become Democratic candidate for Governor of New Jersey. A party which can attract the services of a man like Woodrow Wilson has claims for support that merit the careful consideration of every voter.

MONUMENT DAY

Our Confederate Women To Be Honored.

(Communicated.)

A day in the fall, to be selected later, will be set apart to enable every male resident of this State,—men and boys—to contribute—much or little—as their ability may allow or their hearts dictate —to the erection of a State Monument to the Women of the Confederacy. This high duty has been too long delayed. Let the people by their generosity, and from the means these women made it possible for them to accumulate, make amends for such unfortunate delay, by the more liberal contribution. Let the year 1910 close with the surety that honor will be paid to these heroines. Let the world know that the men of this State appreciate these women's devotion to "a cause they loved so well."

A most appropriate and handsome Souvenir Tag will be given, as an evidence that the donor has contributed to preserve the memories of a Womanhood of whom he is proud and to whom he owes an eternal debt of gratitude. The good women, the charming girls and pretty misses, daughters and granddaughters of these women, who deem it a privilege to aid in honoring their mothers and grandmothers, will undertake the distribution of these Souvenir Tags. God save the mere man who fails to immediately surrender to their charm and to their presentation of his duty.

Even those who do not sympathize with the late Confederacy, living in this State under the present prosperity these women have made possible, will honor themselves in honoring a grand womanhood, whose noble devotion to what they loved entitltes them to all respect. Their memories should be preserved for the emulation of all who strive to do their duty as their consciences dictate.

What the people of the States of the late Confederacy owe these women, not only for their inspiration to the soldiers, not only for their maintenance of the homes, not only for their loving care of the sick and of the wounded, not only for their care of the graves of the dead, not only for their preservation of the memories of their heroes, but for their devotion, their fortitude, their aid since the death of the Confederacy, which animated and encouraged the men in their stupendous efforts to rescue their State from the very slough of despondency and to rebuild its shattered fortunes: is all too well known and felt to make it necessary to urge their claims. Men! Boys! You know your duty. Do it! And show by your liberality that you fully appreciate all that these women have done for your State and for you.

WOULD BANISH FRENCH FROM BILLS OF FARE

White Cross Society Launches Campaign To This End.

New York, Sept. 22.—The White Cross Society, an organization devoted to pure food, has started a national campaign which has for its object the elimination of French from bills of fare in restaurants and hotels.

"Nothing is more needed in the United States than an Americanization of the menu cards," says the society's announcement. All of us do not read French, but all of us dine. Americans are entitled to the privilege of ordering their dinners in English.

"It is not only unlettered who go astray. Persons thoroughly familiar with French have their troubles with the French that is written by cheffs. It is arbitrary filled with idioms and generally so complicated that it has been found necessary to publish a gloss array for the benefit of the cheffs themselves in order that they may know what they are writing about."

JURY EMPANELLED IN VESTAL CASE

noon recess. The jury deliberated until court convened for the afternoon and returned a verdict of not guilty. The verdict was in accordance with the general opinion of those who heard the testimony, the state's case not being as strong as was supposed. However, it is thought that the magistrate was fully justified in sending the case before a jury.

Joe Andrews, who was convicted in Municipal court yesterday morning on the charge of larceny, was arraigned and he plead guilty to the charge. He confessed to the court that he was drunk at the time and with tears streaming down his face excited the pity of Col. Barringer and ex-Judge Bynum who explained to the court that the defendant was addicted to the use of morphine and whiskey. Col. Barringer suggested that he be sent tot he workhouse where he could be weaned away from his bad habits. This was agreeable to the solicitor and he was sent out for a year.

Several mnior cases were disposed of. One witness, A. B. Hinshaw, was called out and Judge Lyon imposed a fine of $25 on him for not being in court to testify when called. All the jail cases have been disposed of.

First Baptist Church Still Undecided As To Who Will Be Its Next Pastor.

The Telegram is asked by a member of the pulpit committee of the First Baptist church to say that the report which has appeared in several papers that Rev. Mr. Powell, of Roanoke, has been called to the pastorate of that church is a mistake. Mr. Powell preached here last Sunday and made a favorable impression, but the committee has as yet made no recommendation to the church in favor of any one for pastor.

NO DECISION REACHED.

Directors of Masonic and Eastern Star Home Adjourn Until October 3.

The directors of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home to be located in North Carolina met in Charlotte yesterday afternoon, but could reach no decision as to the location for the home. The directors adjourned until October 3 when the matter will be finally decided.

The cities asking for the institution are Greensboro, Shelby, High Point, King's Mountain, Mooresville and Southern Pines. However, the main contest is between Greensboro and Shelby, the board being equally divided in favor of the two cities. It is believed that Greensboro will finally win out.

The Shelby Masons have been actively at work to secure the institution. They offer a site of 27 acres and a cash donation of $6,000. Greensboro offers a 25 acre site and $5,000. While Greensboro's cash donation is not as large as that offered by Shelby her accessibility counted somewhat in the impression made by the Greensboro advocates on the board.

However, it is quite likely that Shelby will increase the amount of her cash donation before the directors meet on Oct. 3, so it is up to Greensboro Masons to get busy and secure additional subscriptions for the donation in order to be prepared to raise in case Shelby does so again.

Wright Makes An Ascension At Exposition.

Knoxville, Sept. 22.—Interest in the aviation tournament of the Appalachian exposition, in this city, was intensified today by the first ascension in this section by a Wright Brothers' aeroplane. The aeroplane will fly here daily for one week and possibly two weeks. It is one of the stellar attractions of the exposition and thousands of visitors are here to witness it. Today is also being observed as Asheville day. A special train this morning brought about 1,000 persons from "the land of the sky." The automobile flower parade has been fixed for next Tuesday, Sept. 27, which will also be Atlanta day, Mayor Maddox, of Atlanta, will be one of the judges of the parade.

PREPARING TO INSURE AVIATORS

Going Up in the Air in Any Other Than Slang Sense Doesn't Meet With Approval of Life and Accident Corporations—In Year or Two They Will Insert Clauses in Policies Covering Aerial Risks—No Demand at Present.

New York, September 21.—Going up in the air in any other than the slang sense doesn't meet with the approval of the accident and life insurance companies. In their view it is in the same class as suicide—policyholders are not supposed to do it. Most of the life insurance companies let it go at that, and if the policyholder comes down with fatal results after going up his heirs can collect his insurances, provided the policy has run for one or two years or whatever the limit beyond which it is uncontestable.

The companies don't try to figure a mortality table for aeronauts, because in spite of the increasing numbers of amateurs and professionals engaged in the sport it is at present impossible to make any kind of a guess at the risk. But the life insurance companies are "viewing with alarm", and it is probable that most of them will insert clauses in their policies covering aerial risks within a year or two. At present the only large company known to have taken action governed by the flights of present or future policyholders is the New York Life.

About nine months ago this company inserted in its policies an "aeronautic clause," which reads as follows:

"This policy does not insure against death resulting within two years from its date of issue from experiments with or ascensions or journey in balloons, aeroplanes or other devices for aerial locomotion. If the death of the insured shall result within the said two-year period, either directly or indirectly from such cause, the liability of the company shall be limited to the return without interest of the premiums actually received in cash, less any indebtedness to the company."

The Euitable Assurance Society hasn't as yet found that enough of its policyholders are taking up the airship game to require a special clause in their policies. The only thing bearing on the airship recognized by this company is found in a clause in force since the company began business. This clause refuses insurance to "aeronauts or aerial tumblers," and was apparently intended to protect the company against risks on circus performers. The Equitable policies are uncontestable after one year except where fraud can be proven, and it was said today that if a policyholder took the air and came to grief his heirs would have no trouble collecting, providing he had held his policy a year and had not misled the insurance people concerning his flying habits when insured.

TRICKY ART DEALERS.

Astute Parisian Scheme For Booming a "New Master."

For the booming of a new artist an astute dealer is necessary. He catches his artist as young as possible, preferably as an exhibitor of crazy canvases at the autumn salon of the independents' exhibition, and commissions him to paint 100 pictures a year.

One by one, occasionally in twos and threes, at judicious intervals the dealer sends the pictures to the Hotel Drouot for sale by public auction. There he has confederates, who raise the price at each sale, and he buys them in himself.

After a few months the young artist's canvases have a certain market value, and the next step is taken to turn their painter into a modern master. The critics are attacked. One of them is asked to look at some daub, and when he cries out with horror the dealer says:

"What? You don't like it? Take it home with you as a favor to me, live with it six months and then"—

In due course an art amateur calls upon the critic and cannot contain his admiration for the new artist's picture.

"What a masterpiece! The most modern thing in art I have seen for a long time!" he exclaims.

Doubt begins to invade the critic's mind, and when one or two more enthusiastic amateurs have visited him he is worked up to writing a column of panegyric on the new master. The amateurs are, of course, sent by the dealer.

One or two articles and the boom is in full swing. Wealthy and simple minded collectors, remembering how other painters have been decried in their early days and how their works later have commanded fancy prices, rush in.

The new master makes about 10 per cent of the profit and the dealer the other 90 per cent. The new master is at the mercy of the dealer. If he grumbles the dealer floods the auction rooms with a hundred or so of his masterpieces and orders his agents not to bid, the result being that the canvases sell at rubbish prices, and the boom is burst.—Gil Blas.

"What has become of our poets?" asked the literary editor, sadly. "Those that haven't starved to death are working for the advertising agencies," remarked the sporting editor.

MORSE WORKING TYPEWRITER

Tells Wife He Never Before Knew How Little He Knew.

Atlanta Dispatch in New York Times.

After an unpleasant experience with a prison guard Mrs. C. W. Morse was today allowed to see her husband, who is serving a sentence of 15 years in the Atlanta Federal prison.

Mrs. Morse reached Atlanta this morning and went at onece to the prison. She was admited to the main corridor where visitors are required to wait until prisoners they wish to see are taken to the warden's room.

When Morse was summoned by a guard he was at work in the library and his walk to the warden's room brought him through the hall where his wife was waiting. As Mrs. Morse saw her husband approach she sprang to her feet and ran to greet him. Her arms were almost around his neck and her lips upturned to meet her husband's when a guard ran up and dragged the prisoner back.

"That"s against the rules," said the guard, "you can't speak to him out here," and Mrs. Morse was forced to delay her greeting until Morse passed into the warden's office.

After the visit Mrs. Morse said her husband was in good health and hopeful. Morse is now working a typewriter, cataloguing the books in the library. "I never knew before how little I knew, how little I could do any one thing well," he told his wife today.

BARS CHINESE GIRL

She Cannot Attend School In Gresham, Macon County, Georgia.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 22.—May Ling Soong, young Chinese girl has been barred from the Gresham high school, at Macon, a county institution, because she is not a Caucasian and because she is not a citizen of this country. She is a niece of Bing Chun Wan, who is connected with the Chinese embassy at Washington, D. C.

Her sister graduated last June at Wesleyan college, which is located in Macon and which is a famous Methodist institution. Miss Soong came to Macon to enter Wesleyan but was found deficient in some of her studies and it was suggested that she enter the Gresham high school to prepare for the next term at Wesleyan. When application was made for admission, Superintendent C. B. Champman called a meeting of the board of education to decide the question. The law creating the Bigg county board of education requires that all students of the Gresham high school must be of the Caucasian race and for that reason Miss Soong was denied admittance.

ALDERMEN MEET TONIGHT.

Regular Semi-Monthly Meeting—Will Decide On Lighting Contract.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. A number of matters of importance will come up in addition to the routine business and the session will likely last several hours.

The most important business so far scheduled is the acceptance of the lighting contract according to the report made by the Water & Light Commission and special committee which was carried over from the special meeting Tuesday night. There is little doubt but that the committee will be authorized to make the contract in order to get the lights in as early as possible. The recommendations of the committee as to prices meets with the approval of the Public Service Company.

Another item that will likely come up will be the long postponed action on the Sunday law. Some four months ago a number of the druggists sent before the board a petition signed by a large number of citizens asking that the remaining sections be repealed. So far no action has been taken regarding the petition, the request of the druggists being ignored.

A number of applicants for license to drive autos will be before the board to secure license, several having failed to get in at the last meeting of the board.

There are several committee reports to be made.

PROPOSES DARING EXPERIMENT

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 22.—A chance for freedom for a life-term convict in the Indiana state prison at Michigan City by braving a death of tuberculosis is the plan of Dr. O. L. Boor, of this city, seconded by Dr. W. E. Coover, state veterinarian, to determine if bovine tuberculosis can be contracted bu humans through drinking milk or eating meat of an infected cow.

The plan is to give the convict his freedom if he should withstand the ordeal.

Governor Marshal, it is said, has been broached upon the subject, but is inclined to be unwilling to stake the life of one of the state's charges. The question of the transmissibility of the disease has long agitated science and the state veterinarian has suggested this method of solving the problem.
